

Dr Peter Riddles

Board Member, CSIRO

Peter Riddles has decades of experience in the life sciences industry in Australia having provided leadership to diverse organisations across the ecosystem including biotechnology companies, industry organisations, and University Commercial offices.

His current priorities include working with clinical entrepreneurs in enterprise creation, supporting the implementation of international healthcare service platforms, and maintaining an interest in innovation policy and practice.

He is presently a board member of the CSIRO, chairing its Board Science Excellence Committee, and is a Member of the Science and Industry Endowment Fund, chairing its Experimental Development Program. He is on the board of The Hear and Say Centre for Deaf Children (Brisbane, Australia), is an Advisor to digital health start-up BetterBySport (Bern, Switzerland) and is a Member of the Council of Reference to Academic Health Solutions (London, UK). He was part of a team that recently reviewed Alberta Innovates (Edmonton, Canada) and is a Member of the Entrepreneurial Universities Initiative for the New Zealand Government.